NOTE IN SOCK'S TIE WON A TOMMY ATKINS FOR A SOUTHERN GIRL

New York Girl Is Love's Messenger to Atlanta Beauty Who "Was So Lonesome."

Probably the prettiest Cupid that ever participated in a love affair stepped down the gangway of the steamship Ordina of the Cunard Line the other evening. To-day this Cupid, who, strange to say, is a girl and is known in real life as Jane Gail, will set out for the sunny South on her mission of love, a mission that brings to light a pretty romance.

Many weeks ago Miss Ethel Chapman of No. 82 Peach Tree Street, Atlanta, Ga., knitted some socks for soldiers. In the toe of one of the socks she placed a note giving her name and address and the words, "I'm lonesome." A few weeks later a Tommy Atkins, to wit, Sergeant Wallace Munro of the Black Watch, while attempting to don a new pair of socks in the trenches, discovered the note. A short time later the Sergeant met with a bullet in his shoulder.

In the hospital, some days later, he unearthed the note and determined to write to the girl in Atlanta. He received a speedy reply, and in a short time Sergeant Munro and Ethel Chapman were not only in love, but engaged. It was at this point in the proceedings Miss Jane Gail of New York paid a visit to the hospital and met the wounded sergeant. He confessed his love for the Atlanta girl and asked Miss Gail to be his proxy in the affair. He entrusted her with an engagement ring and a message. Miss Gail gave her word and will take the ring and the message to Atlanta. At the conclusion of the war, if he be still alive, Sergeant Munro is coming to Atlanta to claim the sweetheart who had won him through the medium of a sock.

"It's the grandest romance I ever heard of," said Miss Gail. "I can hardly wait until I meet Miss Chapman and deliver my message and the ring. And I am not going to tell you what the message is, either."

The Self-Reducing Straps Are Invisible In The New NEMO Corset at $3

This new model is a decided improvement over the corset which made the Nemo famous.

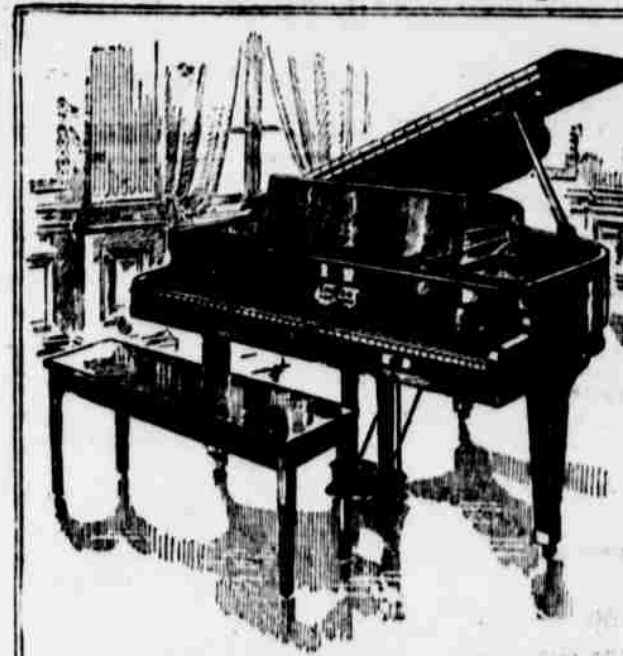

This new model is designed to give the same support to the abdomen as did the previous model—the feature which made the Nemo the most hygienic corset in the world.

This new model gives a perfectly flat surface over the abdomen and hips, for the reducing straps are entirely separate and are on the inside.

10 of These Beautiful Little Conreid Grand Pianos At $435 from $500

These exquisite little Grands are essentially musicians' pianos. Despite their small size, which allows them to be placed in the living rooms where space is limited, they possess wonderful power and sweetness of tone.

Now a dozen of these delightful Pianos are put into the January Clearance for the almost purely sentimental reason that their cases are a little rubbed or scratched—due to having been on our floor during the Christmas season. Otherwise they are in perfect condition, and at their new price offer a rare opportunity. Besides these Conreid Grands (which were made especially for GIMBEL BROTHERS after two years of careful search on our part for the best small grands at about $500), the January Clearance of Used Pianos contains
